MISCELLANEOUS.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

HORRIBLE REMEDIES

THOSE USED BY DOCTORS IN THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY.

Patients Cast Into Wells to Cure Convulsions—A Ladder Used In Setting a Dislocated Shoulder—Dead Bodies Made Into Medicine.

A fragment of a curious volume has fallen into the hands of a local physician which graphically describes the methods of surgery of several centuries ago. When it is considered that anæsthetics were unknown in those ancient days, the modus operandi of the surgeon of the sixteenth century must appear startlingly cruel in the light of the present day.

The work is that of Ambrose Parey, who in 1579, being then the much famous "chirurgion" of his day, published a bulky volume which became such an established authority and held its place for so long a time that 70 years afterward it was translated into English and published in London.

In his first book he considers the general phenomenon of the body in health and disease, and in the chapter relating to temperaments and humors he writes, "An humor is called by physicians what thing soever is liquid and flowing in the body of living creatures inclosed with blood." Proceeding to the "manifold divisions of humors," he separates them into four parts, distinct in color, taste, effects and qualities—namely, blood, phlegm, choler and melancholy. Exact in his subdivisions, he says: "All men ought to think that such humors are wont to move at set hours of the day as by a certain peculiar motion or tide. Therefore, the blood flows from the ninth hour of the night to the third hour of the day; choler to the ninth of the day. Then melancholy the blood flows from the ninth hour of the night is under the dominion of phlegm."

Equally curious is the following on spirits, which he divides into "animall," "vitall" and "naturall:"

"The animal spirit hath taken his seat in the brain. It is called animal because it is the life, but the chief and prime instrument thereof. Wherefore it hath a most subtle and aery substance. This animal spirit is made and harbored in the windings and foldings of the veins and arteries of the brain, brought thither sometimes of the pure air or sweet vapor drawn in by the nose in breathing. The vital spirit is next to it in dignity and excellency, which hath its chief mansion in the left ventricle of the heart. The natural spirit, if such there be any, hath its station in the liver and veins."

Describing "certain juggling and deceitful ways of healing of cures by such means as fear, surprise and even by music for spider bite, the music causing the patient to dance so lustily that he shakes all the poison out of his system," he sums up some of those heroic remedies thus: "I would not cast the patient headlong out of a window, but would rather cast them sodainly, and thinking of no such thing, into a great cistern filled with cold water, with their heads foremost. Neither would I take them out until they had drunk a good quantity of water, that by that sodain fall and strong fear the matter causing the frenzy might be carried from above downward from the noble parts to the ignoble."

A medicine upon which he dilates at great length is "mummie," referred to as the usual remedy for contusions, and he describes it as follows:

"Mummie is a liquor flowing from the aromatick embalmens of dead bodies, which becomes dry and hard" and being ground into medicine was "administered either in whole or portion to such as have fallen from high places, the first and last medicine of almost all our practitioners at this day in such a case."

He also gives some grewsome facts connected with the preparation of "mummie" when he says: "Certain of our French apothecaries, men wondrous audacious and covetous to steal by night the bodies of such as were hanged and embalming them with salt and drugs they dried them in an oven so as to sell them thus adulterated instead of true mummie, whereupon we are thus compelled, both foolishly and cruelly, to devour the mangled and putrid particles of the carcasses of the basest people of Egypt, or of such as are hanged, as though there were no other way to help or recover one bruised with a fall from a high place.

"I have not thought it fit in this place," he says, "to omit the industry of Nicholas Picart, the Duke of Guise, his surgeon, who, being called to a certain countryman to set his shoulder, being out of joint, and finding none in the place besides the patient and his wife, who might assist him in this work, he put the patient, bound after the forementioned manner, to a ladder, then immediately he tyed a staffe at the lower end of the ligature, which was fastened about the patient's arm above his elbow, then put it so tyed under one of the steps of the ladder as low as he could and got astride thereupon and sate thereon with his whole weight and at the same instant made his wife pluck the stool from under his feet, which, being done, the bone presently came into its place."

He also gravely discusses witches and witchcraft, the birth of monsters with horns, hoofs and wings, ascribing their birth to the master of evil, and closes with a lofty panegyric upon Hippocrates and Galen, the princes of physicians.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A FIVE FRANC PIECE.

ONE THAT IS THE HOPE OF EVERY CREDULOUS FRENCHMAN.

The Story of Napoleon's Famous Coin and the Immense Fortune That Is Popularly Believed to Be Concealed Within It.

If you happen to have in your possession the particular French coin known as a 5 franc piece, you may unwittingly be a millionaire.

Such, at least, is the belief shared by hundreds upon thousands of credulous Frenchmen and Frenchwomen, many of whom spend most of their spare time destroying quantities of 5 franc pieces in the hope of realizing a fortune.

Dr. Marco-Leonardo Nardez, the well known numismatist and one of the recognized authorities on coin lore, speaking of this curious condition of affairs, said:

"It is quite true that half France still believes in the existence of great wealth hidden in a 5 franc piece, although many numismatists hold that the fortune in question was long ago discovered and appropriated by one of the Rothschild family.

"The story of the strange 5 franc fortune legend may be briefly told. A 5 franc piece, to begin with, is a silver coin, and is worth about 4s. 2d. Napoleon I was very anxious to make the coin a popular one, and with this end in view he caused it to be circulated everywhere throughout France that he had inserted in one of the silver pieces before it left the mint a bank note or order for 1,000,000 of these same 5 francs—roughly, about £200,000 Whether he really did this or not I cannot say for certain, but the weight of evidence would seem to show that it was done.

"In the manuscript memoirs of the Duc de Feltie, Napoleon's minister of war, it is expressly stated that the emperor inclosed a note on the Bank of France, duly signed by the governors of that institution, in a split 5 franc piece; that the halves were then welded together, partially reminted and thrown in a heap of similar coins, which the emperor mixed with his own hands. These coins Napoleon took with him in a bag when he went to Boulogne and distributed lavishly en route, even dropping some of them out of his carriage windows. In this way it was impossible to keep track of the lucky coin.

"The news of this odd lottery spread far and wide, and the 5 franc piece leaped into immediate favor. From that day to this mutilation of the coin has been common in France, Switzerland, Belgium and elsewhere. Every year the Bank of France is requested to make good scores of pieces split in a vain search for the 5,000,000 franc bank note.

"There are many stories dealing with reputed finds of the fortune. Indeed when a man becomes suddenly rich in France it is common to hear people whisper, 'He must have found Napoleon's famous coin.'

"Some assert that the emperor kept the coin himself, but this hardly agrees with Napoleon's character. Still it is a current theory that some of the money which enabled Napoleon III to reach the imperial throne was found in the lucky silver piece, which his mother, Queen Hortense, had wheedled out of her brother-in-law.

"It was also common talk that General Boulanger had acquired the famous coin until the discovery that his money supplies came from the Duchess d'Uzes set that belief at rest.

"The most likely explanation as to why the 5 franc piece fails to turn up is that Baron Ferdinand de Rothschild, a French member of the great Jewish banking house, secured it. This account states that Baron de Rothschild, having investigated the tradition and found sufficient proof of its truth, deliberately set to work to locate the note.

"He quietly bought in and collected every 5 franc piece he could get, and his agents were notified to preserve and forward to Paris every 5 franc piece which reached them in Europe, Asia, Africa or America. In his office the baron kept three trusty men hard at work bisecting the coins.

"Some say that he had invented a plan for welding them together again, so as to defy detection; others maintain that he melted down the silver and sold it to the government en bloc. The work was colossal, but in the end the baron's sytem is said to have conquered.

"He found the note for 5,000,000 francs, having spent nearly 1,000,000 to obtain it. The order was duly presented at the Bank of France and cashed by that institution

"Plausible as this narration may seem, the great mass of Frenchmen refuse to credit it, and go on, year after year, splitting open their 5 franc pieces to look for Napoleon's note. It is certainly a tantalizing thought that somewhere in the world a check for £200,000 is knocking about hidden in an ordinary silver coin worth less than 5 shillings."—Pearson's Weekly.

Explained.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer tells a story to show that there is sometimes a great deal in the way of putting anything

"I understand that you said my eldest daughter was as homely as a mud fence, professor"

"You are quite mistaken, my dear madam. What I said was that your esteemed child reminded me of a mixture of terra firma and aqua pura combined in a practical boundary line."

"Oh! Is that all? Dine with us on Sunday, professor."

Fear In High Places.

A famous steeple climber was asked if he ever felt fear in his business.

"Of course I feel fear at times," he answered. "Fear is common to all mankind. Not to feel fear is not courage. To overcome fear is the true quality of courage. I divide the nerve force of a man into two parts—the impelling force and the restraining force—the same impelling force that causes a body of recruits at first to run under fire and the restraining force that causes them to overcome for various reasons the first natural fear. So, in climbing, one unused to it is by the natural impelling force of his nervous system afraid, afraid that his legs, his arms, his support, will give way and plunge him down. Shakespeare, who touched on all human emotions, touched on this feeling of fear in high places when in 'King Lear' he pictured Edward at the cliffs of Dover.

"The one way to get over the natural fear is by some restraining force from either within or without. I remember once when a new boy at sea was ordered aloft by the mate he trembled with fear and begged to be let out of it. 'Upon my soul, sir, I can't go up there.' This was his first impelling impulse. But when the mate touched him up with a rope's end he was at the top of the mast so quick that the mate could not follow him. The pain on his outer nerves brought him to his senses and made him exert his restraining force. So if you happen to be with any one who shows signs of fear in a high place a few smart slaps on the face will bring him to himself. The right medicine for unconquerable fear in a high place is immediate pain on the outside nerves."—Boston Transcript.

An Iron Czar.

In the "Memoirs of a Revolutionist," by Prince Kropotkin, the author says that Alexander II himself, for all he was willing to emancipate the serfs, was a man capable of singular harshness and even brutality. When Kropotkin was promoted and was called with other officers to the side of the czar, the latter congratulated them quietly, speaking about military duty and loyalty. "But if any of you," he went on, distinctly shouting out every word, his face suddenly contorted with anger—"but if any of you—which God preserve you from—should under any circumstances prove disloyal to the czar, the throne and the fatherland, take heed of what I say, he will be treated with all the se-veri-ty of the laws, without the slightest com-misera-tion."

"His voice failed," says the author. "His face was peevish, full of that rage which I saw in my childhood on the faces of landlords when they threatened to skin their serfs 'under the rods.' He violently spurred his horse and rode out of our circle. Next morning, the 14th of June, by his orders, three officers were shot at Modlin, in Poland, and one soldier, Szur by name, was killed under the rods."

Swept Away by Plagues.

Italy once had a plague that killed 10,000 persons daily. Five hundred a day died in Rome. In one year 200,000 citizens of Constantinople died. The epidemic of 1347-9 was the worst ever visited on man. In Asia 23,000,000 perished by it and in Europe 25,000,000. In London 200 persons were buried daily in the Charterhouse yards. It was called "black death." The plague in England in 1471 destroyed more people than the continual wars for the 15 preceding years.

"Sweating sickness," prevailing in England for three years, killed half the population of all the capital towns and depopulated Oxford. It was mortal in three hours. The great plague of London in 1664 carried off 100,000 people. A transport with soldiers on board, from Sardinia to Naples, brought a plague that destroyed 400,000. An epidemic started in Marseilles by a ship from the Levant killed over 60,000.

For four years Mr. Zingsheim suffered with piles but now his suffering has entirely vanished and he has gained twenty-five pounds.

John F. Zingsheim, Esq., of No. 9 Lark Street, Amsterdam, N. Y., writes: "I was afflicted with piles for four years brought on by heavy lifting. My suffering was extreme and the piles gradually increased in size notwithstanding the fact that I tried many different kinds of treatment. After becoming physically incapacitated and unable to work at all, and after much hesitation I wrote to you. I am very happy to state that your advice has done me great good. You advised Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, also his 'Pleasant Pellets.' They have cured me. I thank you most heartily for what you did for me. All suffering has entirely vanished and I have gained about twenty-five pounds in weight. I used only one bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and one vial of the 'Pellets.'"

Piles is a disease that is usually treated locally with ointments which are well enough in their way but do not touch the cause.

This is where Dr. Pierce's medicines excel—they cure the cause of disease and of necessity the disease itself disappears. Piles are caused by a severe inflammation of the lining of the rectum and lower intestines, and this inflammation is due to the presence of effete, poisonous matter. To cure it two things are necessary, 1st—thorough cleansing of the bowels; 2d—the soothing and cooling of the inflamed membranes.

The first is produced by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Two little 'Pellets'—about twice the size of a pin head—are a dose. They are the pleasantest cathartic known. They do not gripe but they do their work.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cools and purifies the blood and acts as a general tonic to the whole digestive system, neutralizing and eradicating all poisonous, irritating matter.

The patient who takes these two remedies will not only find his piles cured but will soon discover that his general health is greatly improved.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure biliousness.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Let Us Celebrate.

LET Sonoma celebrate the Fourth of July this year. We gave way to our sister town of Glen Ellen last year and joined in with her in doing honor to our natal day, and we are quite sure she will stand in with Sonoma this year and help swell the crowd. There is a Fourth of July surplus fund of $36 on deposit in the Sonoma Valley Bank to start in with. It is a small amount to be sure but it will do as a starter toward securing the necessary wherewithal to make the celebration a success. Outsiders say that the people of this town cannot pull together—that for the most part we are a lot of kickers. We must confess that it does look that way at times. But in this matter of a Fourth of July celebration let us prove for once that Sonoma can lay aside business and personal likes and dislikes, politics, the water proposition and other things that have no bearing on our patriotism, and all get in together and pull together for a big celebration on the Fourth.

THE charge brought against County Physician Shearer by two professional nurses whom he recently discharged from the hospital in Santa Rosa is a most serious one. The young women claim that he repeatedly made insulting proposals to them which they indignantly resented. In view of the fact that Dr. Shearer is a man of family and bears a good reputation, and that his accusers are discharged employees it would be well for the public to suspend judgment in the matter until all the facts in the case are brought out. If Dr. Shearer is guilty he should be removed by the Supervisors, but more evidence must be forthcoming than that of the two discharged employees. If this were not so no man having females in his employ would be safe from similar charges.

THE dry north wind of the past few days has been a most unwelcome visitor in this valley, but unlike a similar blow in the southern counties, has done little or no damage to growing crops. A three-days blow in the San Joaquin Valley and other less-favored sections of the State in March or April has been known to burn up the young grain fields as though swept by fire. Here in the Sonoma Valley it might blow a week without serious damage to hay and grain. However this may be, our farmers are not hankering after old Boreas, particularly when he descends from the north in the springtime.

A CRY has gone up for another water election and many of the best citizens of the town are urging the City Trustees to again submit the proposition to the voters at an early a date as possible. Until this question is settled in the affirmative there will be no peace or quiet in the town.

A SANGUINARY ENCOUNTER

A Prominent Physician of Santa Rosa Shoots a Well-Known Business Man.

J. M. Miller, a well-kown business man of Santa Rosa, was shot and probably fatally wounded last Wednesday evening by Dr. S. S. Bogle, a prominent physician. The shooting was the outcome af a dispute over money matters. The men met in Miller's yard and after a few hot words it is said Miller approached Dr. Bogle with a knife in his hand. The doctor, seeing the knife, at once drew his pistol and commenced shooting, firing four shots. Miller fell with two pistol balls in him, one in the forearm and another in the left hip. It is feared his injuries are fatal. Dr. Bogle has retained State Senator Sims as his counsel and will claim that he shot in self-defense. Both men are among Santa Rosa's most respected citizens and the shooting is greatly regretted by the friends of both parties.

EXCURSION RATES TO AS WELL AS FROM THE EAST.

The Rock Island Springs a Surprise On the Colorado Lines at To-day's Meeting.

[From the Denver Times.]

The Trans-Missouri Committee of the Western Passenger Association is holding its annual meeting at the Brown Palace hotel. A surprise was sprung on the Committee at the morning session, by General Passenger Agent Sebastian, of the Rock Island. Beginning about June 20th, the Rock Island will run four excursions from Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha to Colorado common points, making a rate of one fare plus $2 for round trip and return limit of October 31st on the tickets. These excursions will be run as special excursion trains and about the same dates return excursions will be run from Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo to the Eastern points, the same rate prevaling, thus enabling Colorado people desiring to do so to make tourist trips East during the summer, with the same advantages granted Eastern tourists who come West.

and I am afraid I have inherited it. I do not feel well; I have a cough; my lungs are sore; am losing flesh. What shall I do?

Your doctor says take care of yourself and take plain cod-liver oil, but you can't take it. Only the strong, healthy person can take it, and they can't take it long. It is so rich it upsets the stomach. But you can take

SCOTT'S EMULSION

It is very palatable and easily digested. If you will take plenty of fresh air, and exercise, and SCOTT'S EMULSION steadily, there is very little doubt about your recovery.

Home is the residence not merely of the body, but of the heart; it is a place for the affections to unfold and develop themselves, for children to love, and learn, and play in; for husband and wife to toil smilingly together, and make life a blessing. The object of all ambition should be to be happy at home; if we are not happy there we can not be happy elsewhere; it is the best proof of the virtues of a family circle to see a happy fireside—*Annie E. The minstrels to-night in Glen Ellen will no doubt attract a large crowd. E. M. Gender has charge of the affair.

BLUES

Ever have them? Then we can't tell you anything about them. You know how dark everything looks and how you are about ready to give up. Somehow, you can't throw off the terrible depression.

Are things really so blue? Isn't it your nerves, after all? That's where the trouble is. Your nerves are being poisoned from the impurities in your blood.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

purifies the blood and gives power and stability to the nerves. It makes health and strength, activity and cheerfulness.

This is what "Ayer's" will do for you. It's the oldest Sarsaparilla in the land, the kind that was old before other Sarsaparillas were known.

This also accounts for the saying, "One bottle of Ayer's is worth three bottles of the ordinary kind."

$1.00 a bottle. All druggists.

SUPERIOR COURT NOTES.

In Judge Dougherty's court on Monday there were a number of interesting probate and civil matters.

A sale of real estate was ordered in the estate of Ullrich Hungerbuhler.

Maria Benjamin was appointed executor of the estate of the late Sarah Ducker. The Hon. J. T. Campbell's petition was dismissed on motion of the petitioners.

Squire Butcher was appointed guardian of the estate of Charles W. Butcher in a bond of $1000.

Lillie L. Prindle was appointed executrix of the will of the late W. Prindle. No bonds were required.

The final account and distribution was ordered of the estate of Peter Archambeau.

These probate matters were continued: Estates of C. F. Rouff to May 14th; estate of P. Stapleton to May 7th; estate of Alfretta Norris to April 30th.

An opinion was handed down overruling the demurrer in the action of the Santa Rosa Bank vs. Maud C. Wiley, as administratrix of the estate of J N. Wiley. Five days was allowed to answer. Ten days was allowed to file a bill of exceptions.

In the action of Patterson vs. Stearns dismissal was entered as per stipulation.

The motion for a change of venue in the suit of George H. Field vs. Susan M. Field was continued to April 30th.

In Judge Burnett's court informations charging Ed. Randall with embezzlement and "Dutchy" Miller with burglary were filed and the arraignments of the men were set.

The action of F. P. Wickersham against F. A. Wickersham was continued to April 30th. The same order was made in the action of S. B. Wright et al. vs. Nellie M. Smith and others.

Default was entered in the suit of Banford vs. Banford and the matter was referred to the court commissioner.

Miss Teresa Fochetti spent several days in the metropolis this week.

Henry Martens of Glen Ellen was in town Thursday.

COUNTY NEWS ITEMS.

Occidental is now connected with the outer world by telephone.

Mrs. Spencer, wife of B. M. Spencer of Santa Rosa, is dead.

Healdsburg has accepted the water and electric light systems and the contractors who put in the plants have been paid in full.

Six hundred young ducks and a brooder were destroyed by fire on the Fennihoh chicken ranch near Santa Rosa on Tuesday night. How the brooder took fire is a mystery.

Eight Cloverdale boys will take the Examiner examination hoping to be sent to the Kansas City and Philadelphia political conventions. They are: Hiram Casey, Frank Lewis, Earl Cnell, Theodore Dehay, Albert Tomlinson, Ed. Haehl, Roy Thompson and Alfred Higby.

Judge Brown of Santa Rosa is a terror to evil doers. He recently imposed a fine of $500 on Oscar Boehm, the proprietor of an immoral house in Windsor, and gave the offender six months in jail to boot. For months past the people of Windsor have vigorously objected to the conducting of the house and when they heard of Boehm's conviction and sentence they hung the wretch in effigy.

Thos. Owens, suspected of assassinating Ed. Hale at Lytton Springs, is in jail awaiting trial on a charge of murder. The evidence against him is accumulating. It is now said that two prominent citizens living near where the murder took place will testify that they saw Thomas Owens, the accused man, in the vicinity of the springs about an hour before the shooting occurred. They say that when they saw Owens he was riding along the road in a cart; that in the cart they saw a rifle and an extra hat. It will be remembered that after the shooting an old hat and the gun were found near the scene of the murder. This testimony is considered very important.

Four big Indian bucks, heaps of wine, two big rocks, a feud of long standing, a scrap! This is the combination that came near sending Antonio Reyes and Dick Swain to the graveyard out at the county hospital, and Louis and Frank Carillo to the gallows in the fourth story of the big building down at San Quentin prison, says the Santa Rosa Republican. Friday morning Reyes and Swain were loitering along the creek bank about half a mile beyond the western limits of town. They had been drinking wine. Presently Louis and Frank Carillo, both half breeds, came along. They had been drinking. The two Carillos stopped to talk with Swain and Reyes. The result of a very brief conversation was the biggest kind of a fight. It is not thought the injuries of either man will prove fatal. They are now at the County Hospital. Constable Miles Peerman arrested both the Carillos. They are now in the County Jail awaiting trial on charges of assault to commit murder.

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best cough cure." This was hardly what he expected and, after a moment's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.

CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

BREVITIES.

Dr. A. E. Osborne of the California Home was in town Sunday.

For harnesses go to Chas. Wilson, Main street, Petaluma. You will save money. *

There are quite a numer of guests at the El Verano Villa.

The Grammar School re-opened Monday after a vacation of two weeks.

The Board of City Trustees meet in regular semi-monthly session next Wednesday.

For a nice new buggy, surry or farm wagon at bed rock prices call on Robinson & Farrell, Main St., Petaluma. *

Chas. Wilson, Harness Maker, carries a full line of robes, whips, blankets and everything for horsemen. Repairing a specialty. Main street, Petaluma. *

It may not be generally known, but it is nevertheless a fact, that the Sonoma Volunteer Fire Company is for the most part officered by men opposed to a water system for Sonoma. Is it any wonder that this town is without water for combatting fire?

Mrs. Harry Fisheer and her daughter have returned to Sonoma after an absence of several years in San Francisco and have taken up their residence in the Carr cottage. Mr. Fisheer has been here for several months, being employed in the Central Market.

The winners of the watch, diamond ring, etc., drawn for on Friday evening of last week in Will Steuben's jewelry store, were as follows: Charley Hoy, gold watch; Geo. Breitenbach, diamond ring; R. G. Shoultz, silver match box; J. M. Cheney, cuff buttons; Pio Pinanetti, bracelet; C. A. Cooper, watch chain; A. A. Enke, cuff buttons.

In almost every neighborhood there is some one whose life has been saved by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, or who has been cured of chronic diarrhoea by the use of that medicine. Such persons make a point of telling of it whenever opportunity offers, hoping that it may be the means of saving other lives. For sale by F. Duhring. *

Personal Mention.

The Misses Ping of Eldridge are visiting Santa Rosa friends.

J. B. Small attended the Odd Fellows picnic held in Santa Rosa last Thursday.

Otto Von Geldern visited his aunt Mrs. Von Geldren of this place last Sunday.

Benj. Dorhmann came up from San Francisco Sunday and will spend several days here.

J. D. Sullivan and son returned Sunday evening after a pleasant time spent at the Bay City.

A. W. Agnew came over from Petaluma Sunday and spent the day with Sonoma Valley relatives.

Mrs. Nolting and Miss Leo Schiller returned from a brief visit to San Francisco last Monday evening.

Miss Tillie Cornelius returned home Monday, after spending several days with San Francisco friends.

Piercy Wilson of Cloverdale is visiting relatives in this place. Young Wilson leaves for Nome, Alaska, next month.

Vernon Goodwin, with his friend Ernest Finley, has returned to his home in Santa Rosa after a week's fishing trip.

Miss Eda Gillen entertained this week at her home on Second street East Miss Anderson and Miss Flora Levy of San Francisco.

Park Donahue is up from San Francisco and is the guest of Frank Duggan of Kenwood and will remain in the valley for several months.

Mr. and Mrs. McMullen and children came up from San Francisco Sunday and spent the day with their sister-in-law Mrs. Pauline McMullen.

Prof. Schieck of Glen Ellen returned Sunday evening from San Francisco, where he was engaged in playing the cornet. Mr. Schieck is a good musician and has many engagements throughout the county.

Benj. Weed has been appointed by the Grand Parlor, N. S. G. W., Chairman of the Committee to confer with the Regents on ways and means for carrying out the idea to establish a chair of California History in the University of California.

Serafino Canobbio and Miss Lena Bacigalupi of Agua Caliente were married last Saturday in St Francis' Church by Rev. Father O'Malley. After the ceremony the young couple and invited guests repaired to the home of the bride's mother where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served.

EMMA WATRISS' WILL.

Filed for Probate Last Wednesday—Disposes of an Estate Valued at Over $4,000.

Franklin Watriss of Agua Caliente on Wednesday last filed a petition in the Superior Court of this county for the probate of the will of his late sister, Emma Watriss, who died about three years ago. The estate consists of fifty acres of land in Sonoma township valued at $1000; a one-third interest in 593 acres of land in Sonoma township, which said interest is valued at $2500; $900 on deposit in a San Francisco bank, and some personal property. The will, which leaves the entire estate to her two brothers, George and Franklin Watriss, is as follows:

"Agua Caliente, March 10, 1897. —This is my only will. I give to my brother, George Cabot Watriss, and to my brother, Franklin Watriss, all my real estate, to be shared equally by them. Signed by me to-day. March 10, 1897. Emma Watriss."

Boss Catch of Trout.

Sol. Carriger and Billy Meyers are the fly fishermen of Sonoma. They can give the INDEX-TRIBUNE man cards and spades and still beat him. On Monday last, which by the way was the warmest of the season, they left town about ten o'clock in the morning for a day's fishing in the Stuart and Hooker creeks, and notwithstanding the lateness of their start they returned in the evening with eighty fine trout. Both streams had been fished over by scores of fishermen, since the opening of the season, with indifferent success and they were supposed by the uninitiated to be "fished out." The fish, however, were there all right but would not take the hook owing to the coolness of the weather.

Amusement at the Home.

On Friday evening of last week many of the neighbors and friends of Dr. and Mrs. Osborne assembled by invitation in the large hall of the California Home for Feeble Minded Children to witness a laughable farce entitled "A Trip to Paris," written by the doctor. The piece abounds with clever hits and funny situations. It was finely costumed and the participants were selected from among the lady and gentlemen attendants of the institution. Dr. and Mrs. Osborne also took prominent parts. The former made quite a hit in the character of "McGinty." Mr. Hartman, Mrs. Robt. Hill and Mrs. Osborne were also well received and contributed much toward the enjoyment of the evening. These affairs given by the worthy doctor and his estimable wife contribute much to the social life of Eldridge and vicinity.

Maxwell's Orchestra.

The performance of last Saturday and Sunday evenings by the Sonoma Orchestra, assisted by other talent, but emphasizes the great obligations the people of this valley are under to Mr. Hugh Maxwell for the many musical treats he has gratuitously given them within the past few months, and it seems only meek and proper that some public acknowledgment should be given. We would therefore, on behalf of the people of Sonoma Valley, say to Mr. Maxwell that his efforts to give them so much pleasure are deeply and gratefully appreciated and hope is here expressed that all good things may come to him as his reward. MANY CITIZENS.

Agua Rica Hot Springs.

A flag station will be given the Agua Rica Hot Mineral Springs by the California Northwestern Railway Company. A platform and other accommodations will be supplied by the company for the patrons of the springs, who number a large number of peop'e the year round.

Now in Honolulu.

S. A. Ringstrom, for many years a resident of this valley, who lately sailed for the Hawaiian Islands, writes us that he has arrived safely at his destination. He is now located at Aiea, Oahu, on a large sugar plantation belonging to the Honolulu Sugar Plant Company six miles outside of that city.

Methodist Church.

Rev. Henry Pearce will conduct the usual services in the Methodist Church to-morrow (Sunday), at 11 A. M. and 7:30 P. M. Morning subject: "A Great Highway in a New Kingdom." Evening subject: "Sir, We Would See Jesus." Everybody is invited to be present.

H. J. LEUTHOLTZ ARRESTED.

Charged With Felony Embezzlement.

H. J. Leutholtz, the San Francisco and San Rafael auctioneer, and for several years a resident of this place, was arrested in San Francisco on Friday of last week, charged with felony embezzlement. He rented a temporary auction house in that city and on the day previous to his arrest sold several hundred dollars worth of paintings belonging to an artist who had more pictures than money. Instead of rendering an account of the sale to the owner he appropriated the entire proceeds of the sale to his own use, hence his arrest. He was taken to jail but was subsequently arraigned before Judge Low, who held him to answer to a charge of felony embezzlement with bail fixed at $1000. He secured bondsmen and was turned loose.

Maxwell's Invitation Concert.

Union Hall was packed to the doors last Saturday evening by the music-loving people of Sonoma and vicinity, the occasion being the invitation concert given by Mr. H. G. Maxwell. The audience was an appreciative one and heartily enjoyed the excellence of the programme in which forty players took part. The orchestra was assisted by the following talent: Mrs. Lulu de Emparan, Miss N. Haraszthy, Mrs. Blanche Weems, vocalists. The former sang a Spanish duet that was loudly encored and the ladies repeated the number. Mrs. Weems sang "Alla Stella Confidente," by Rofandi, with violin obligato by Mr. Henry Schmidt, and was accorded a warm welcome. The string quintet with flute and piano was composed of the following gentlemen: H. Schmidt, 1st violin; A. Van, 2d violin; E. Colby, viola; Otto Schmidt, 1st 'cello; E. Kaufmann, 2d 'cello; S. Disbecker, flute; E. Cowan, piano. The numbers by the quintet were encored to the echo, and the trio for violin, 'cello and piano by Messrs. H. Schmidt, O. Schmidt and E. Cowan was a faithful composition most delightfully rendered, and the performers were obliged to repeat the number before the audience would be satisfied. Noticeable among the performers was Mr. Otto Schmidt, whose masterly 'cello playing excited general comment.

Variable Weather.

The weather the past week has been very variable, alternating between cold winds, sunshine and frost. Monday was the warmest of the season, being as hot as a June day. Wednesday night it turned out cold and overcoats were in demand. Thursday morning there was another change in the weather and it was an ideal spring day. Several of the mornings have been frosty and some slight damage has been done to vineyards in low places. Fruit of all kinds is looking well and there will be an all around good crop of peaches, apricots, pears, cherries, prunes, etc.

Real Estate Transfer.

Judge Carroll Cook of San Francisco, who recently purchased forty-three acres of land near Glen Ellen, mention of which was made in these columns three weeks ago, has added four hundred acres to his ranch, which was purchased from the San Francisco Savings Union last week. The Judge contemplates many improvements on his place and will make it a model country home.

Sonoma Nine Defeats the El Verano's.

On Sunday last the Sonoma nine defeated the El Verano's on the diamond at the latter place. The score stood: Sonoma's, 17, El Verano's, 15. Jep Valente of the Sonoma team made the only home run.

School Census.

Jas. H. Albertson, Census Marshal for the Sonoma School District, has completed his labors. His report shows the total number of children in the district to be 376 as follows: Boys 5 to 17 years, 131; girls, 5 to 17 years, 147; children under 5 years of age, 98; native born, 373; foreign born, 3.

Valuable Horse Killed.

Robt. Hall lost a valuable work horse last Saturday. The animal was attached to a harrow and becoming frightened ran away, and in its mad career fell and broke a leg In order to put it out of its misery the horse was shot.

Died in the Napa Asylum.

Mrs. Baccala, wife of P. Baccala of this place, died in the Napa Asylum last Thursday morning, where she had been an inmate for several years. The remains were brought to this place for interment, the funeral taking place yesterday from St. Francis' Church. The deceased was a native of Switzerland and aged about forty years.

The Best in the World.

We believe Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best in the world. A few weeks ago we suffered with a severe cold and a troublesome cough, and having read their advertisements in our own and other papers we purchased a bottle to see if it would effect us. It cured us before the bottle was more than half used. It is the best medicine out for colds and coughs.—The Herald, Andersonville, Ind. For sale by F. Duhring. *

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Other Matters of Interest to the General Reader.

Items of a personal and social nature are thankfully received at this office.

Dr. Herbert Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Shaw of this place, has been appointed a surgeon in the United States Army Hospital at the Presidio. The position is a lucrative one and Dr. Shaw has a bright professional career before him.

Wireless Telegraphy.

It is said that successful experiments have at last been accomplished in wireless telegraphy, and this time, we hope, rumors are correct. Wireless telegraphy would undoubtedly be a good thing, and revolutionize many ways of doing business. One writer has gone so far as to say that wireless telegraphy is the greatest discovery of the age. We beg to differ. Don't overlook Hostetter's Stomach Bitters when you talk about the great things of the world. This peerless medicine has been before the people over fifty years, and has done more to promote health and settle Stomach troubles than any other medicine in existence. It cures dyspepsia, indigestion, malaria, constipation, and the lesser ills of life It never fails. Take it, and you will not be disappointed. Be sure and get the genuine, with Private Revenue Stamp over the neck of bottle. Don't let the druggist palm off a "substitute."

Mrs. John Gaffney of San Francisco was in town Wednesday, the guest of Sonoma friends.

Mrs. Mary Gearhart and daughter, Miss Evelyn, will spend the summer in Los Angeles.

The Native Sons ball at Glen Ellen last Saturday evening was well attended and a social success.

The conundrum supper held on Friday of last week at the Congregational church was a pleasant affair.

Miss Birdie Johnson will start to-morrow for Fresno, where she will be the guest of her sister Mrs. Lily Garrison.

Mrs. O. B. Shaw and Miss Agnes Wilson attended the session of the Association of Congregational Churches in Cloverdale this week.

Oscar Campbell will shortly return from Manila after an absence of several months in our new possessions. Mr. Campbell will remain in California a short time only when he will return accompanied by his sister Miss Bertha Campbell, who contemplates making Manila her future home.

According to the Sebastopol Times during the past month Henry Cartens, an aged and wealthy stock-raiser whose farm is located near Trenton, has been missing lambs from his flock. At times reports from a shotgun were heard on the ranch, but the "hunter" has been so irregular in his calls that all attempts to capture him were fruitless until a few days ago. Last Thursday another report was heard and an employe of Mr. Cartens immediately hastened in the direction of a volume of smoke that was seen to arise from a thicket. He found a lamb that had just been killed and saw a man with a gun in his hand retreating toward the woods. The latter proved to be J. Bellati, and Mr. Cartens was at once notified of the incident. A warrant was issued in Justice Wilson's court for the arrest of Bellati and Veleborghi, Mr. Cartens believing that the latter was also implicated in the killing of the sheep. The document was served by Constable Woodward and the defendants were released on bonds of $50 each, furnished by N. Bacigalupi and S. B. Cassassa. Tuesday was set as the time for trial, but neither of the defendants appeared and Justice Wilson at once declared the bonds forfeited.

A PATIENT CONVICT.

HOW HE EFFECTED HIS ESCAPE FROM PORTLAND JAIL.

The Only Prisoner Who Ever Managed to Get Out of the Great English Prison Tells How He Accomplished the Difficult Feat.

William Bartlett, a well known English burglar, is the only man who ever effected his escape from Portland prison, an escape which is the original of that described in Hawley Smart's novel, "Broken Bounds." Bartlett told the story of his escape to a reporter as follows:

"The correct details of my escape have never been told," he said. "I'll tell you what actually happened. In 1868 I received a sentence of ten years' penal servitude. From Pentonville I was taken to Portland. It was awful. I made up my mind to escape—a feat never before accomplished. One day I managed to pick up a small piece of hoop iron. That seemed like a godsend. Every time I had the chance I took that iron hooping with me, and worked like a nigger to make it into a saw. I did it in fear and trembling, for the slightest sound would have betrayed me. A stroke of luck awaited me. I found a convict who had got a little bit of a file. He had no ambition and said the file was no good to him. I gave him my dinner for it, and with the file I was able to complete the saw. Then I managed, by working stealthily every evening after I had been locked up for the night, to saw through the wood flooring of my cell. Every night I had to replace the boards, so that the warders should not see what I had done. Then an awful disappointment awaited me. The space beneath my cell was lined with sheet iron; but, nothing daunted, I eventually got through that. Then I got into an airshaft, and after three months' hard work saw my way clear to liberty.

"At last the opportunity came. It was a dark night, and all was still. With my sheets I had made a rope, and, as luck would have it, I had picked up a piece of wood, called a 'dog,' with iron hooks at each end. I put my stool underneath the quilt, to look as much like my body as possible in case the warders should look in, and then went down the passage it had taken me three months' hard labor to make. After lifting an iron grating I found myself in the open air and managed to throw the hooks on my linen ladder over a wall. By this means I got on to the roof of the officers' quarters. There was no one about, and the only sound I could hear was that made by my beating heart. From the roof I had to jump on to the boundary wall, about 10 or 12 feet distant. I dare say it was a bold leap, but you don't stick at trifles when you are escaping from Portland. I made the leap and was successful in reaching the boundary wall. Then I got to the ground by means of my linen ladder.

"Unfortunately the hooks were so secure that I had to leave the ladder where it was, and if it had not been for that I might have been in London in three or four days. As it was, I had an awful experience. While making a desperate tug at the ladder I heard footsteps approaching, and I rushed into the garden of the grove public house. I turned round and saw a guard looking at the ladder. A few minutes afterward shots were fired, and a bell was rung. My escape had been discovered. Guards were running by in all directions; but, unperceived, I got through the window of the Roman Catholic chapel and concealed myself beneath the communion table, which proved to be something very much like a box. I could hear the sound of hurrying footsteps all night, but no one came into the chapel until the next morning, when service was held there.

"It was not a pleasant position to be in, I can assure you. A sneeze or a cough would have betrayed me, but fortunately all went well. But I got very hungry. So at the end of about 33 hours I stole out and broke into the Clifton hotel. I there found some bread and meat, cheese and tobacco. What was of more consequence, I was able to steal a hat and some clothes. With the clothing and the food—the sweetest food I ever tasted—I returned to my hiding place in the chapel. Out of a black coat I made a pair of trousers, and put on another of the stolen coats, which happened to be made of velvet. The food I divided into six portions, and for six days I was concealed beneath that communion table. There were frequent services, and, what was still worse, the priest used to come in at night for private devotions.

"At last I had more than enough of it and broke into the priest's house with the object of obtaining some money. I could find none, however. There was some silver plate, but that was of no use to me. I obtained a white stole, however, and with that made something resembling a shirt. Feeling now fairly confident as to my appeacance, I walked down the road and saw a milkman, who I afterward found gave information about me. At a little place 19 miles from Portland I concealed myself in a field. Two men came in blackberrying, and I had to get out. They asked me where I was going. I said to Blandford.

"They volunteered to show me the way, but we had not gone very far before we met two police inspectors. They asked me to go into a public house and give an account of myself. They were particularly anxious to know if I had a mark on my right arm. Seeing the game was almost up, I tried to dash through the public house, but it was no good, and I was collared. I was afterward sentenced to eight years' penal servitude for the burglary at the Clifton hotel." – London Telegraph.

Overdid It.

"I understand she married him to reform him."

"That was it. And she did the job so thoroughly that now he doesn't like the kind of woman he liked when he married her and is trying to get a divorce."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Mystery of the Sea.

A mystery with which every sailor is familiar is the formation of dust at sea. Those who are familiar with sailing ships know that, no matter how carefully the decks may be washed down in the morning and how little work of any kind may be done during the day, nevertheless if the decks are swept at nightfall an enormous quantity of dust will be collected.

When a girl says that some other girl is pretty, the men present can always make a ten strike by disagreeing with her.—Atchison Globe.

An Unwonted Aspect.

"This is Mrs. Gushleigh's portrait, is it?" said the caller. "I should hardly have recognized it. The chin doesn't look at all like hers."

"Perhaps," suggested the husband of Mrs. Gushleigh, "you have never seen her chin in repose."—Chicago Tribune.

A Thoughtful Husband.

"You asked me to bring you some pin money this morning," said the young husband.

"Yes," she replied, with an air of expectancy.

"Well," said he, "I thought I might as well save you a trip down town, so I brought you a paper of pins instead."—Chicago News.

The Quick, the Dead and the Other.

Mrs. Casey and Mrs. Murphy met in a street car and were discussing family affairs.

"And how many children have you, Mrs. Murphy?"

Gifts for Five Million Ladies.

The Most Remarkable Offer Ever Made by a Reliable Firm.

EDITOR INDEX-TRIBUNE:

Please announce that for a limited time we will give, absolutely free, an elegant silver-plated sugar shell—choice of any of our 40c. patterns—to every married lady in the United States who will write us a letter stating that it is her first request for one of our souvenir gifts. We will promptly send illustrations from which selection may be made. There is nothing to pay. The gift is absolute.

Our object in making this sensational offer is to get a sample of Quaker Valley Silverware into every home in the land. We believe it to be the most effective advertising that we can do. We will not send these sugar shells to lists of names. This is too expensive a gift to send to persons who don't ask for it themselves. Therefore each lady will please send her own name only. But one to a family and none to children. Ladies, please write to-day, giving full Postoffice address.

DAINTY DINERS WHO GET COSTLY MEALS FOR NOTHING.

How Some Big Accounts That Are Never Paid Are Run Up at the Fashionable Restaurants That Flourish In New York City.

Legal proceedings recently taken to recover from a well known citizen who belongs to the "fashionable" class the amount of a tailor's bill revealed the fact that the man was poor, had no money and no means of support and owed many bills. Besides tailors, shoemakers and hatters, he owed money to florists, jewelers, livery stable keepers, dealers in theater tickets, shirtmakers, stationers and restaurateurs. One of the largest bills against the man was contracted in the course of several years at a prominent up town restaurant.

"You must have been hung up for a great spread," said a patron of the place to the manager, pointing to the item.

"Not at all," he answered. "That bill represents hundreds of charges and has grown slowly to its present magnificent proportions."

"But how is it done—how do people run big bills in a restaurant?"

"Well, in the first place, because we look upon men who come here as gentlemen and treat them accordingly. I don't remember just how the account in question was opened, but usually it is done in this way: Some day, after a man receives his check, he scrawls his name across its face and tells the waiter, 'I'll pay this tomorrow; it's all right,' and then if the person in charge at the desk marks it 'O. K.' the check is 'hung up,' and an account is opened with the man.

"In most instances the man comes back, as he said he would, the next day and settles his little bill and thanks us for accommodating him. If, however, the man intends to work the house, he does not come back the next day and settle, but waits three or four days. Then he drops in and orders a modest luncheon or a not elaborate dinner and scribbles his name across the check, gives the waiter a tip, and the new account receives its first addition.

"Little by little the account grows, but never by any really large charge, and when at last the man has a little dinner party with a big appetite the check is liable to be 'O. K.'d' because the account is already so large that it would be poor policy to turn it down.

"When the account has grown so large that we think it should have attention, we give the head waiter a tip, and without telling the man in so many words he is given to understand that cash would be preferred to an autograph. Sometimes the man takes the hint and makes a payment or asks for more time and tells us that he will pay as he goes, and he remains a customer without increasing his account, but generally he leaves us and goes to some other place and complains about poor service here and in other ways tries to injure our business because he can't have what he wants to eat and drink for nothing. His account remains open, and when it becomes outlawed we put it on the list which bears many good names, but we never dun the man."

To show how anxious some people are to have it known that they are well acquainted in the fashionable restaurants the following story was told:

"Some months ago a man came here early in the day and said that he would have a little party of friends to supper with him after the theater that evening and ordered what he wanted. His order showed that he was unaccustomed to the part, but it is our business to fill orders, and we said that his supper would be served all right. Then he laid down a sum of money, more than enough to pay the bill, and said, 'This will save me the trouble this evening,' and went away. The supper passed off nicely, the man's friends from the country or the country part of the city seemed to enjoy their spree, and finally the host asked for his check, looked at it and then said grandly and loud enough for all to hear, 'Charge it.' The supper was a 'grand' affair in the eyes of the guests, but the climax—the order to 'charge it'—overwhelmed them, and I dare say the man accomplished his object, which was evidently to make himself solid with his guests."—New York Tribune.

A One Sided One.

There are times, even in the best regulated families, when it becomes necessary to discipline some young and stirring member of the household. The other evening an indulgent father concluded that such a time had arrived, as his 8-year-old son had committed an act of insubordination and threatened to repeat it. Rebukes and warnings were in vain, and at last the youngster was given a sound spanking. Half an hour later, after friendly relations had been resumed, an older son came home and was somewhat surprised when the 8-year-old said to him: "You ought to have been here awhile ago. Me and papa had a fight."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.
